U. S. PURSE STRINGS TO BE SCREWED UP

Dawes, Budget Director, Points Way Toward Economy.

Washington, July 19.—An estimated saving of $112,512,628 can be effected in the appropriations of approximately $4,000,000,000 available for government expenditures during the current fiscal year, President Harding was informed by Director of the Budget, Dawes.

Included in the estimate of possible saving, General Dawes said, was the sum of $22,822,113, pertaining to continuous appropriations for building and construction which would be postponed for expenditure in future years.

The estimate of government economy possible during the present fiscal year was contained in a letter directed to the President by General Dawes, who presented the amounts by which expenditures could be reduced in the various departments and independent establishments.

Adopt Economy Policy.
Survey of possible economies during the year was begun several weeks ago by General Dawes using the budget machinery, after a meeting at which department heads and bureau chiefs had been directed to reduce expenditures and adopt a policy of economy and efficiency.

"Whatever may be the relation of total expenditure to total revenues at the end of the current year," Director Dawes said in his letter, "which for various reasons, including possible new legislation, the operations of the Shipping Board, the Railroad Administration and fluctuation in current receipts of the Postoffice Department, can not be predicted at this time, the above amount is that much of a contribution to a more favorable relation."

"This fine response to your request from the heads of department and independent organizations and bureau chiefs, incidental to your assumption of responsibility as the business head of governmental administration, infers the existence in their minds of three principles involving improvement in governmental business, which should not be overlooked.

"First, that the business organization of government hereafter assumes that the minimum amount of money to be expended in any fiscal year is not, of necessity, the sum appropriated in advance by Congress, but the smallest amount upon which the business of the government can be efficiently administered under the program outlined by Congress.

"Second, that minds of the business administrators of government have been diverted from a too easy reliance upon the custom of deficiency appropriations.

"Third, that where Congress has directed the expenditure of certain sums for specific purposes, an executive pressure will now be exerted for more efficient and economical administration in order to produce greater results from the given expenditure and also wherever possible to complete the given project for a less amount than the total appropriated for the purpose."

Estimated savings of the more important departments were listed by Director Dawes as follows:

State Department, $1,171,982; Treasury Department, $30,342,149; War Risk Bureau, $16,534,523; War Department, $15,000,000; Navy Department, $10,047,891; Interior Department, $18,827,191; Department of Agriculture, $1,687,802; Postoffice Department, $30,500; Postal Service, $14,820,421; Department of Commerce, $2,063,383; Department of Labor, $10,660; Department of Justice, $94,300.

Completion of the economy estimates by the government organizations within three weeks was regarded by Director Dawes as evidence of increased efficiency. Work would be begun at once by the budget bureau, he added, on the budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, using the new estimates of necessary expenditures as a basis.

AN OLD GEOGRAPHY.

Some days ago Master Walter Trogdon of Clear Run, sent to this office a very old geography, published perhaps about the year 1800, although it does not show the date of issue. The book has been kept as an heirloom and handed down to the heirs of Mrs. Hart Humphrey or Ulrich Winchel, always to the oldest child, direct descendant. Young Trogdon being the last of the fifth or sixth generation to fall heir to the book.

There were but 26 subdivisions or Counties in Kentucky at the time of publication of the geography and population was given as per census of 1790 at 73,677. Lexington, on Elk River, with 2,000 inhabitants is given as the largest town. The book does not contain maps of any kind.

TWO MEN INJURED IN RUN-AWAY ACCIDENT

While at work Wednesday, Messrs. Hubert and Clarence Stevens, sons of Mr. Will Stevens of near Goshen, were injured as a result of the dash of a team which became frightened at a quail which flew up nearby. The frightened team was hitched to a hay rake, and being driven by one of the men, ran into another team hitched to a mower and being driven by the other injured man. In the mix-up, Hubert suffered body bruises and a severe cut upon one arm. Clarence likewise sustained body bruises and a severe wound upon his head. It was thought for a time that his skull was fractured, but his condition yesterday proved to the contrary.

LOCAL SWIMMING HOLE LOOKS LIKE ATLANTIC CITY

The old swimming hole has been doing a rushing business for the last few days. Both young and old have been taking advantage of the molting qualities of the water that runs under the old bridge.

The numbers in bathing have been ranging from twenty to fifty and the ages of the bathers range from the tiniest tot to some of Hartford's oldest citizens who haven't been "in swimmin'" for twenty years.

The youngsters have constructed a diving platform which vies with the best of these in its possibilities. When you see a youngster climb to the top and tumble off into a neat swim you wonder how the kids grow up in a town which has no bathing place.

Hartford and the locality are mighty fortunate in having old Rough river or creek as most of us are prone to call it.

FOSTER—MOORE

Mrs. L. B. Foster, of Indianapolis, announces the marriage of her daughter, Alice Myrtle, to Clifford B. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Moore, of Akron, Ohio. The wedding took place Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, the Rev. Frank L. Huvis of the St. Paul M. E. Church officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will make their home with the bride's mother, at 2702 Clifton Street, Indianapolis.

LITTLE GIRL DIES

Marthaline, the little, nineteen-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Bell, of Matanzas, died last Friday, the 15th, after an illness of more than a month, of colitis.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Russell Walker, Sunday, at West Point Baptist Church, where burial of the remains took place.

PREACHING SUNDAY.

Rev. T. T. Frazier will preach at the Hartford M. E. Church, Sunday, July 24, both morning and at night, at the usual hours. Rev. Frazier missed his regular date here on account of being engaged in a revival meeting at Goshen. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

MRS. A. M. LANHAM

Mrs. A. M. Lanham died Sunday afternoon at her home in Fordsville of dropsy, after having been ill several months. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Sanders, pastor of the Fordsville M. E. Church, after which the remains were interred in the Haynesville Cemetery.

Mrs. Lanham was well advanced in years, much respected and loved by a large circle of friends.

Mrs. Lucy Haynes, sister of Mrs. Lanham, died and was buried in the same cemetery during the early part of last week.

McHENRY MAJESTICS WIN CLOSE ONE

Sunday afternoon at the McHenry Hall Diamond Mogg, with its battery consisting of Withrow and Riddle and the McHenry Majestics with their battery consisting of Parrott and Thorpe met in a real, short nuff ball game. It was a corker from start to finish, being tied several times. Two or three of Mogg's scores were made by long hits landing among the overflow crowd in right field. With their 999 loyal rooters cheering them on at the beginning of the last half of the eighth inning the Majestics found themselves on the small end of a 5 to 4 score, but with two men out and one man safely perched on first base Big Bill James locked two healthy strikes over and then Mr. Withrow cut loose with what he intended for the final ball but Big Bill with the windup of the pitcher began to smile and at the crack of the bat Bill's smile was from ear to ear with a sort of satisfactory look in his eye. The cleanup fans were confident that Bill aimed to plant the bat, out in left territory. To the satisfaction of all the loyal rooters smiling Bill landed on the ball for the longest hit of the season and when the ball was returned to the infield Bill was safely back at home plate with the score 6 to 5 in favor of the Majestics. With Parrott pitching like a Christy Mathewson and Thorpe catching like a Schalk Mogg jacks were retired in the ninth in one two three order and the Majestics had landed another victory.

IN RACE TO FINISH.

Squire W. S. Dean, candidate for the Republican nomination for County Judge, in order to correct an erroneous statement to the effect that he had withdrawn, requests us to say that he is in the race to remain until the finish. (Oly oversight we omitted making the above statement last week.)

BASE BALL BRIEFS.

Phelps is laid up with a split finger, received during the Beaver Dam-Hartford game Saturday. He was giving an exhibition of some real catching until this injury took him out of the game. Leach, the Morgantown boy who did the receiving for Beaver Dam, was forcing him to go his limit. Leach while only a youngster is playing the game like a veteran. He is also a good infielder and has a "Babe Ruth" batting eye.

Fordsville defeated Olaton Sunday 11 to 6. The Fordsville boys are continuing their batting streak.

The McHenry Majestics played around with the boys from Mogg, Sunday and then tossed them out with a 9 to 5 victory. Parrott was on the mound for the Majestics and Thorpe did the receiving. Parrott true to his regular form was steady throughout the game, keeping the hits well scattered and never allowing the Moggies to get him. Bill James was largely responsible for the victory, smacking out a home run in the ninth with one on and two scores needed to win.

Crowe our stellar short stop had to retire from the game in the third inning at Riverside Park Sunday from an injury sustained when one of the cleats came off his shoe and he and the ground met, with disastrous results to him. He is all O. K. now but it looked like he would be out of the game for several days.

Hamp and R. Beaver Dam's third sack demonstrated that he was worthy of playing with the best of Louisville Saturday. Beaver Dam had the Bates' brothers performing on first and short and it was from Mogg on second. Hamp played right up to them all the time.

Bishop and Walker were the Kings of the game Saturday. No decisions were disputed and the umpers were autocratic throughout.

The Washington team defeated Hefflin Saturday 31 to 7. This was some land slide for the Washington boys. K. Tinsley did the twirling for Washington.

Bozarth pitched a nice game Sunday. He was a trifle wild in the third, walking three men and allowing two hits, which netted three runs. He settled down however, and made the Green River lads whiff the air for a total of twelve strikeouts.

Glean did the receiving for the Riversiders Sunday and handled Bozarth's twisters in grand style.

The local team defeated the institute boys last Thursday 13 to 3. The game was called at the end of the fifth due to too much sun and too many hits. "Moot" Felix twirled for the locals and Mason and Mitchell were on the mound for the institute.

No creek let Central Grove down at Riverside Park Saturday by a score of 20 to 11. Goodall pitched for No creek.

The Riversiders play the American Anglo-Mills team at Riverside Park Sunday. The local boys are determined to chalk up a victory. Here's hoping anyway.

The Halli colored team went to Calhoun Sunday and let the Calhoun boys make two more runs than they did and lost the game. When asked the correct score "Rattle" said that he didn't know just what it was but he thought it was 37 to 35. He said it wouldn't have been that way only Calhoun had the last time at bat and Halli didn't have a chance to make any more.

The Beavers from Beaver Dam, cut themselves strong ash poles and smacked the A-1 quality big league balls for a total of seven runs while "Shin" Hoover was fooling the enemy and returned to Beaver Dam Saturday night, victors over the Caneyville outfit 7 to 1.

The Washington and No creek teams will tie up for their third and gravy game at Riverside Park Saturday. Washington has won one from No Creek by the score of 18 to 17 and has lost one by the score of 11 to 10. The bulk of the gate receipts will go to the teams. The game ought to be full of your muchly coveted thrills.

We are unable to give the box score of either the Saturday or the Sunday game. The Riversiders aced at Beaver Dam was either too excited or disgusted after the seventh to keep the put outs and assists, go our score book for that game is all. The score was 9 to 3, but despite this score the game was a peach. Not a hit was registered by either team until the seventh. A bevy of hits and errors was responsible for the 11 runs scored in that frame. The Sunday game was complete when it came to registering thrills. First Morgantown was in the lead and then Hartford. The game was comparatively free from errors and hits won for the locals. The score was 7 to 6.

The Beavers go to Island Station Sunday, to win again from the Island outfit. If they turn the trick this time it ought to place them in the upper class beyond a doubt. Dawson Springs defeated Madisonville 4 to 2. Island Station beat Dawson Springs by a nice score and Beaver Dam has defeated Island once and should they turn the trick again the dope will label them first class stuff. The Madisonville team is about the fastest independent team in the south, but they can be beaten.

It wouldn't be a bad idea to get a team together and make it the very fastest team that the County can put out, label it the Ohio All-Stars and take a barnstorming trip through Western Kentucky. Maybe all the teams in the county are not top notchers, but there is always a man or two who can qualify. In our mind we have a bunch of stars who would be mighty hard to beat. This would give some of the boys a nice road trip, put Ohio County on the base ball map and take a fall out of some of the over-rated teams of the state. Someone who has the money to advance and the time to devote, ought to do it.

J. T. WRIGHT.

McVEY TO REMAIN AS HEAD OF U. OF K.

Expressions Of Good Will Show Extension Plans
Have Support.

Lexington, Ky., July 20.—Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, announced at midnight tonight that he was expecting to remain with that institution.

Dr. McVey said he had received expressions of good will from various parts of the State which lead him to believe the Commonwealth will support him in his campaign for extension of the university.

He met with members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of the university today. Following the meeting, he said he would announce by midnight whether he would remain with the university or accept the presidency of the University of Missouri.

McVey Issues Statement.
In a statement issued tonight, Dr. McVey said in part:

"At times during the last four years I have had a feeling that the people of Kentucky held only a nominal interest in their university, but the expressions of good will coupled with definite assurances of support from all parts of the State, have strengthened my faith in the people of the Commonwealth.

"The work now established on foundations already created by my predecessors is not finished. It is only well started. Whatever other State universities have done for their States the University of Kentucky can do for Kentucky.

"All that is needed are faith, purpose and money. If we have the faith the money will come when the purpose is clearly directed."

Service to State, Aim.

The statement sets forth that the university president only wants an opportunity to work and see results. He said he bases his opinion that opportunity will be given to him on his belief in expressions that have come to him from all sections of the State.

"I have concluded," his statement continues, "to remain in the distinct hope and with great faith that these expressions indicate a real purpose that looks forward to a bigger and better university capable of rendering the service a State university should give to the people."

Members of the committee which met Dr. McVey today are Judge R. C. Stoll, Lexington; Rainey T. Wells, Louisville, and Robert R. Gordon, Louisville.

BANDIT ROBS HIS GUARDS, ESCAPES

Railroad Raffles Looks Like Movie Hero—Chivalrous Boaster.

San Francisco, July 16.—"You'll hear from me pretty soon. I'll pull a big job that everyone will hear about."

Postal authorities, federal and local peace officers throughout the West are today anxiously weighing this boast of Roy Gardner, bandit, made to deputies from whom he escaped while being taken to McNeil Island, Wash., under fifty years' sentence for mail robberies.

The threat, considered in the light of his past performances and his mental makeup, was being accepted at full face value while word was awaited from posses on his trail in the Northwest.

Gardner, twice captured for postal robberies, has twice escaped after a mocking taunt that he couldn't be held.

Makes Crime History.

Not since the days of the Daltons and the Starr gang has a desperado come up so spectacularly from the rack of highway robbery, nor has there been one with more evident pride of criminal craft.

There is nothing furtive about Gardner. He looks like a stage cowboy—handsome, smiling, healthy and happy, even when things are going badly. He has a nerve equal to any undertaking. So his outwitted guardians describe the man. Also he has a Raffles-like chivalry, as exemplified in his statement that one robbery was staged to aid his wife and in returning "breakfast money" to his victims.

How he will attempt to execute his promised "big job" if he eludes capture, officers are trying to surmise from his past ventures. He has confined himself to mail robberies, for which he seems to have a penchant. His care and daring in carrying out crimes have only been equaled by his facility in escaping after capture.

The inordinate vanity of the man suggests to officers that he will again attempt mail robbery since by his own boasting assertion he is not thru with crime but will venture capture or death again in "the big job."

That this may be risked without use of a gun is considered likely, since Gardner prides himself rather on success by wit than terror.

Says He Won't Kill.

"I'll never use a gun to kill," has been another of his vauntings.

This is hardly borne out, however, by the story told by H. M. Pyron, fellow prisoner, who leaped from the train after they had handcuffed the deputies to the coach, and who was recaptured by a posse at Kenosha, Wash.

"Gardner," said Pyron, "threatened to kill me if I surrendered without a fight. He kept two of the officers' pistols and gave me one when we separated just before my capture."

Gardner's exaggerated conceit was once more revealed when he told the discomfited deputies just how he had managed to wear the gun which got him his liberty.

Precautions being taken by mail authorities concede the fear that Gardner will attempt at least one other desperate venture to make good his final boast in a series of threats fulfilled.

Even Robs Captors.

In April, 1920, he held up a mail wagon in San Diego, Cal., and broke away from officers. He was again apprehended at Newcastle, Cal., shortly after a Southern Pacific train had been robbed of $175,000 in registered mail.

He said he would escape again.

By managing to secure and strap a gun on his abdomen so cleverly as to escape detection in the Sacramento jail, he caught deputy U. S. marshals off their guard on the train, took their pistols and purses and made a clean get-away.

O' YE BEER BOTTLE! YOU'RE USEFUL STILL

Portland, Ore., July 16.—A sealed beer bottle, containing a card with nautical markings and instructions asking the finder to mail it to the address thereon was picked up on the Oregon Coast after six years' journey from Japan and turned over to the Japanese consul here. It was one of many cast adrift by the Japanese imperial fisheries station at Hak Kaido, Island of Yezo, to test the coastal currents of that vicinity, according to the consul.

The hieroglyphics on the card indicated the bottle had floated probably north until caught in the cold current coming down from Bering Straits, had then perhaps been carried nearly to the equator, where it was picked up by the northward flowing current that warms the Pacific slope and had been blown by a gale to the Oregon coast.

At the consulate it was said no other such bottles had been reported and customs men at Astoria, on the Oregon coast, likewise declared the find was a rare one.

Even so, the beach combing who picked up the beer bottle in this land of prohibition refused to be entrusted with it. A Japanese postcard is of little use to a man with a thirst, he opined.

LAMB MARKET IS HOLDING UP WELL

Study of figures compiled by the Hounbun Stock Yards on the range of sheep prices in the last ten years shows some interesting facts and discloses that despite the tremendous industrial slump through the country the situation with the farmers is nothing like as desperate in this one field as has been pictured frequently, although admittedly not what it should be. It is interesting further, to note the Louisville market has been consistently higher than Chicago.

Eliminating the war years the prices of top lambs have been almost double at times what they were in 1911. In the last few weeks they have sold at as high as $13.25. At present they have been hovering around $11 while in 1911, in the same period, they were going around $7.

During the war the demand of the armies for meats rushed the prices up to as high as $18.50 in July 1918, since which time there has been a steady slump back to normal although the range for tops is nearly $4 higher than the price in 1915, the first year after the European War set in.

This steady market has been marked by the demand for the very best breeds of spring lambs. Blood never has counted for as much on the market as this year and the quality of lambs sought for and bringing the best prices has had to be of the highest.

Proof that breeding has such a large influence in profitable returns is cited by the Louisville Livestock Exchange in connection with the sale of 200 pure bred bucks and ewes and 2,000 high grade ewes to be held by The Louisville Livestock Exchange and the Kentucky Pure Bred Livestock Association at the Hounbun Stock Yards August 11. The sale has the support of the University of Kentucky college of Agriculture, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Governor of Kentucky. It will be held without profit to the Exchange for the Association and the farmers attending will make their own prices.

RUSSIA FRIENDLY TO TURKS

The new soviet ambassador to the Turkish nationalist government told Mustafa Kemal Pasha, head of that government, that the day had passed when Russia desires to occupy Constantinople and plant the cross on Saint Sophia. He declared that Russian people were animated by brotherly sentiments towards the Turks "who are the natural allies of Russia." The sultan's government is not recognized by the Russian bolsheviks.

The town of Ismid, southeast of Constantinople, was abandoned by the Greeks after many Turks had been slaughtered. The French claimed to have saved 4000 Turks in the town. In order to protect American citizens a detachment of American marines was landed at the place.

The class in English had reached the point where they were writing short stanzas. Several pupils had recited with varying comment by the teacher, and at last Harvey, the village bad boy, was called on, and read:

"I saw a pretty lady
Strolling beneath the trees.
She slipped into a mud-puddle
That came up to her shoe-tops."
"But Harvey," objected the teacher, "your lines do not rhyme."
"Don't I know it!" replied Harvey in a disgusted tone; "the puddle wasn't deep enough."

The new teacher had put this proposition: "Thomas had five oranges. Harry gave him eleven, and he gave Richard seven. How many did he have left?"

Before this problem the class recoiled but only one had the presence of mind enough to tell the reason. "Please, ma'am," said he, "we always do our sum in apples."—Country Gentleman

When Alice Smith had attained the age of 16 she undertook to alter the orthography of her given name to what seemed to her, was a more poetic form. Accordingly, she began to sign herself Alyce. Thus designated she entered a new school and, of course, the first question put to her was with reference to her name.

"Alyce Smith," she said 'A-L-y-c-e.' "Thanks," said the teacher. "And how are you spelling 'Smith' now?" —St. Louis Times.

TREASURY WATCHDOG IS REAL LIVE WIRE

McCarl Will Help Maintain Harmony Between Congress And Other Branches

Washington, June 16.—J. R. McCarl of Nebraska, has been selected by President Harding as the new comptroller general of the United States.

This is a newly created office equal to that of the director generalship held by Charles G. Dawes. McCarl has charge of expediting the entire work of auditing the accounts of the Federal government and reducing its cost. Dawes will look after the task of doing away with overlapping bureaus and departments, reducing them to a unified whole, and submitting estimates to Congress. Both will carry out the great plan conceived by the last Republican Congress of bringing government expenditure down to date and saving the taxpayers of the country many hundreds of millions of dollars.

The President indicated he wanted a "hundred-thousand-a-year man" for both places. He got him in Dawes, who is wealthy, has made a success in the Middle West in the reorganization of properties, and served under Pershing in the A. E. F. He also got him in McCarl—not in fact, but potentially. McCarl was a poor boy, graduated from the University of Nebraska, became secretary to Senator Norris and then was made executive secretary of the Republican Congressional Committee. He there demonstrated by his thoroughness and vision that in the larger work he would be the one man capable of attaining the utmost results.

These are the requisites which the President and members of Congress felt necessary for the post.

The Comptroller General must be absolutely honest and utterly fearless because he will be in fact the "watchdog of the Treasury."

He must be a keen judge of ability and character because he must select and place subordinates as to insure the best possible results.

He should be a lawyer because the matters reaching him for decision will in most instances involve a construction of a Federal enactment appropriating funds.

He should have unlimited energy and should be young enough to have and to apply to his work that rare quality of push and enthusiasm that will not down.

He must have the qualities of a diplomat because he will be a most serviceable point of contact between Congress and the several executive departments.

McCarl, whose acquaintance with public men is large and who is at the same time a tireless worker, fills the bill. As one prominent member of Thoroughly honest, with courteous energy, a keen judge of character and ability, a tried executive, a graduate of the College of Law of the University of Nebraska, with more than ten years' actual practice in the courts of Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado, admitted to practice in all Federal courts, thoroughly devoted to the public interest in the largest sense, held in high regard by members of Congress, I do not know of a time when there was greater unanimity of recommendation for appointment than in this case."

With two "live wires" to direct, the work of organization will go on at a rapid rate during the following months. Under the Wilson administration the government may be said to have been sick.

Loss of Appetite.

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a meal or only eat two meals a day for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least five hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and the stomach a period of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will do it.

CHINESE CLIMB SACRED MOUNTAIN

At the summit of Hwa-Shan, the Chinese "flowery mountain," which is sacred to the religion of the Taoists is a temple. It is believed that pilgrims who ascend the steep side of the mountain and visit the temple will be rewarded by having all their requests granted. So each year thousands of Chinamen risk their lives in an effort to reach the peak, which is 6000 feet high.

In many places the pilgrims encounter natural walls of rock that are almost perpendicular. They get around these by walking over crude foot-ways made by laying a few poles over posts driven horizontally into the side of the mountain, clinging to a chain placed above the ledge of poles for their support. Naturally everybody keeps a pretty good grip on this chain for slipping off the artificial ledge would mean a sheer drop of several hundred feet.

BREED OF TAILLESS SHEEP MAY BE HAD

Lexington, Ky., July 16.—A breed of sheep without tails some day may be one of the exclusive products of Kentucky. If experiments which are to be undertaken in the near future by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station run true to form, the station has purchased a tailless ewe from J. W. Mattingly, a Marion County farmer, and will breed the freak to a tailless ram lamb obtained from a Northern Kentucky sheep raiser in an effort to develop a breed of sheep without tails.

The experiment will be started this fall.

Such a breed of sheep is possible, according to L. J. Horlacher, in charge of the sheep at the station. He says the breed of polled Hereford cattle was started in 1903 by mating two hornless animals. A number of tailless lambs probably will be obtained from the first cross of the two tailless individuals and the experimenters hope to build up an entirely new breed from these lambs.

Several tailless sheep have been born in Marion County this year, Mr. Horlacher says. The ewe purchased by the station was sired by a Southdown ram. Her dam was a high-grade Hampshire.

The tailless ram owned by the station also will be bred to several long-tailed ewes to determine the results of such a cross.

A breed of sheep without tails would be an enormous improvement over present breeds, Mr. Horlacher says. Long-tailed market lambs and sheep are ... and before the highest price can be realized on them their tails must be docked. Should the experiments result in developing a breed of tailless sheep farmers who raise market animals will be spared the time and expense of clipping their tails before placing them on the market.

KENTUCKY OIL AT LOWEST SINCE 1913

Frankfort, Ky., July 16.—The recent tremendous slumping of the prices paid by the principal oil purchasing agencies for Kentucky crude has caused much interest in the fluctuations as a reflection on the industrial activity of the country, says Willard Rouse Jison, state geologist and director of the Kentucky Geological Survey.

Not since August 20, 1913, when the price dropped to 85 cents a barrel, has the price of Somerset, the chief Kentucky grade, been so low as at present. On January 4, 1914, it was raised five cents a barrel to 90 cents and continued to increase in value at intervals until October 11, 1920, when a new grade, Somerset light, was established and the price for it fixed at $4.50 a barrel. About this time, there was keen competition for the purchase of oil and premiums of from 25 to 50 cents were not common, making the petroleum worth up to $5 a barrel. On January 8, 1921, the price was reduced 25 cents a barrel to $4.25 and a series of slashes since then reduced it to one dollar a barrel. The Somerset grade, regular is quoted at 90 cents a barrel. Ragland, the other grade of Kentucky crude petroleum also has experienced a decided drop in value during recent months.

GERMAN KILLS FRENCH MAJOR

In the process of clearing Upper Silesia of Polish insurgents and German volunteer organizations the town of Beuthen was abandoned by the Poles. As a French battalion entered the place there was a hostile demonstration by the German residents. Maj. Montallier, one of the French officers was shot dead by a German civilian. The crowd is said to have shielded the assassin and to have helped him to escape.

The attempt of the Polish insurgent leader, Korfanty, to take the town of Gleiwitz brought a sharp note from the Polish foreign minister, M. Sklumski. The minister said there was great satisfaction in Poland over the understanding that an American will sit in the conference on Silesia. He also said that America had saved the children of Poland.

"LEAGUE DEAD," SAYS BUTLER

Dr. N. M. Butler, president of Columbia university, who is now on a tour of Europe, has taken every opportunity to assure European leaders that America's "airtight" rejection of the league of nations as enunciated by Ambassador Harvey at the London Pilgrimage dinner is final and absolute. Dr. Butler says he believes "any misunderstanding about it is a real danger," and he thinks the best thing to do is to tell the world "simply and bluntly" that Harvey spoke the truth.

CONGRESS APPROPRIATES A QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS FOR HORSE BREEDING.

Money To Be Spent Under Supervision of Army Officers To Raise More Thoroughbred Horses for Cavalry Purposes.

OTHER GOVERNMENTS SPEND MUCH MORE.

Realizing the necessity of government interest, supervision and participation in breeding of thoroughbred horses, if the United States is to take her rightful position with the other countries of the world, the United States Congress has made an appropriation of a quarter of a million dollars to be expended in horse breeding.

While this is a very small amount when compared with the millions of expenditure made by the governments of England, France, Italy and Spain in this work, it is being effectively used to enlarge the number of thoroughbred horses suitable for cavalry mounts.

In explaining the plans of the United States government for the breeding of more and better horses, Col. C. E. Hawkins, Quartermaster's Corps, United States Remount Service, says:

"The world war brought out the fact that the National Defense demands, not only thousands upon thousands of horses and mules, but horses and mules of good breeding. Quality and breeding in the horse and mule is what gives them the staying power in danger and emergency, as well as for the less spectacular, but not less important, service in connection with our agricultural and commercial pursuits. What is true in the man is true in the beast. Courage in the soldier we call morale. In either case the quality is that of the will to stay when threatened by the common instinct to falter which means failure and defeat."

"The United States is the great horse and mule market of the world. Our allies depended upon us for the major supply of their war horses and mules. Thousands upon thousands were sold to the British, French, Italian, Belgian, Greek and other governments. The supply that could be sold was limited only by the ships available for their transportation abroad, and by the fact that nations were naturally of the first import."

"The first cry from abroad was for men, then for foodstuffs to feed their millions of soldiers and our own men; next came the demand for munitions—the stuff that made the hellish fire that raked the enemy; his theatre of operations and his lines of communication. On the heels of the call for these necessities we had the one for the war horse and the war mule, in quantities never before approached."

"Automotive vehicles were used in great numbers. Yes, that is true, and it will be true in the future. But war and the horse and the mule continue to be inseparable. The great military migrations of the past—those, indeed, of civilization, itself—are so linked with the horse that his production and improvement may be said to have been co-existent with them. Motive power has not killed the horse and mule industry. Every member of the species has a valuable and important place to fill, motive power to the contrary notwithstanding. The latter and the horse will go along together, each filling an important and useful sphere."

"The breeding of horses and mules, far from being abated, should be practiced in the spirit of the utmost optimism and confidence. True, the horse and mule market is upset. The demand, however, for every class will come again before the coils now bred mature. All our best informed horsemen, breeders and farmers recognize this fact and advise doubling our attention to the work of breeding."

"Meanwhile better horses and mules should be the aim of every breeder. We need better blood, more quality; hence, a more valuable animal. A well bred, sound animal, of good conformation and quality of any class, will always bring a high price and a handsome profit to the breeder. It is the scrub or ordinary animal that loses the breeder and farmer money. The scrub eats as much forage and takes as much care as the high class animal; and one has nothing at maturity. The progeny of high class, pure bred stallions, that have proved their courage, endurance and speed in competition, and selected farm mares, will bring the breeder an increasing profit as the time goes on."

"The Government is backing the production of these better horses and mules. This work is being accomplished by the War Department through the Remount Service, under the Quartermaster General of the U. S. Army."

"The last Congress appropriated a quarter of a million dollars to further these plans. The project also is being backed by an auxiliary society of the Remount Service, known as the American Remount Association, composed of army officers, civilians, breeders, farmers, ranchmen, horsemen, owners of race horses, drivers and riders, wagon, buggy, and harness and saddle manufacturers—in short, of almost all the representative organizations interested in the future of the horse and mule. The objects to be accomplished may be summarized as follows:

"To promote and improve the production of horses and mules.

"To stimulate the breeding of high class animals of the equine species, with a view to improving their blood lines and conformation, and thereby to enhance their usefulness and market value."

"To protect owners, users and breeders and dealers against unjust and unreasonable legislation."

"To gather, co-ordinate and disseminate data on breeding, feeding, stable management and care of animals."

"To promote and encourage horse shows, race and hunt meets, polo, horse fairs and riding and driving by means of competing for prizes and ribbons."

"To encourage the use of the horse commercially and for sport in healthy, outdoor exercises."

"To save the riding and driving horses from degeneration and extinction."

"To imbue our people with a patriotic understanding that the horse and mule is necessary for our National Defense."

"Our immediate concern is to save the riding and driving horse and high class race horse from extinction. We want to produce a truly American type of cavalry horse—a horse with breeding and quality, as well as bone and substance—a weight carrier and the best general purpose horse known—a horse that will weigh from 1,000 to 1,250 pounds, standing from fifteen hands, one inch to sixteen hands, light made, with good gait and action—a walk, trot, gallop horse that can carry weight and follow the hounds across country—that the family can drive to church and also one that can hold his own in hard work on the farm—a horse that can be used to advantage and economically in any and every where, except in very heavy draft. This type of horse has splendid looks, quality, action and vigor—a wonderful all-purpose horse for the farmer, and one that can be kept at a minimum cost. Almost every commercial and military use will be met by the progeny of this breeding scheme, dependent primarily upon the size, quality and blood lines of the mares used in breeding."

"Among the stallions to be placed throughout the United States this spring will be over one hundred head of HIGH CLASS REGISTERED THOROUGHBREDS, big horses with plenty of body, bone and substance. These stallions placed in the stud through Government agencies, will be available to farmers and breeders at a minimum fee. The Government does not expect to make money, but to make it possible and feasible for the farmer and breeder to get the service of a high class approved stallion for their good mares. The object is to produce animals of real value and use that will not only pay for their rearing, but bring a handsome profit when mature. We expect the progeny matured to make general purpose horses, cavalry horses, riding and driving horses, show horses, hunters, race horses, polo ponies, depending largely upon the mares selected for breeding and the care in rearing the colts; a high class horse, both for peace and war, a link in the chain of our National Defense. The colts will belong to the breeder. The Government will have no strings on them. The owner will be privileged to sell them to whomsoever he pleases at any time. However, the Government expects to depend upon this source for its supply of animals in times both of peace and war."

"The New York Jockey Club, I may add, has established a half-bred registry at Avon, New York, with Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth in charge. This makes it possible for the farmers and owners of these colts, which will be half-breds, to register same at a nominal fee of $2.00, which registration is strongly recommended, because, when the farmer or breeder desires to dispose of these colts, a better price will be paid by civilians for the registered colts than for those that are not registered. In addition to this, registration is necessary if any type or breed of horse is to be established and recognized. All necessary information in regard to this registration can be had by writing to Half-Bred Registration Bureau, New York Jockey Club, Avon, New York."

"Plans for an organization similar to that in charge of Mrs. Wadsworth are now under way in the interests of Kentucky breeders and farmers."

WORLD COURT, HOPE FROM CONFERENCE

Belief That Association Will Grow Out Of Meeting.

Washington, July 12.—President Harding hopes his proposed association of nations, designed to end war for all time, eventually will grow out of the disarmament conference to be held in Washington this fall.

This fact was recalled today by the President himself, in discussing the objects of the meeting. Incidentally, he also disclosed that all of the great maritime nations, with one exception, either have formally or informally indicated their willingness to participate in the conference. It is understood that Japan has not yet been heard from. The association of nations idea was formulated by President Harding and his campaign advisers shortly after he was nominated for the presidency last summer.

Realizing even at that time that the overwhelming sentiment of the American people was against the league of nations, Mr. Harding and the Republican strategists devised the present "Association" plan.

The President believes this association of governments can be formed to minimize the possibilities of wars by the following methods:

First—Creation of an international court of justice for arbitration of international disputes.

Second—Recodification of international law.

Third—Adjustment of nonjustifiable disputes by international agreements between the member governments of the association.

President Harding believes that the working out of this plan will constitute a genuine effort toward peace and at the same time preserve the political integrity of the United States.

Under the League of Nations, which President Harding has assailed time after time, the independence of action of this government would be lost forever. The President clearly has pointed out in frequent denunciations of the covenant in general and Article X in particular. The league, he believes, constitutes a military alliance that in reality is a super-government, in which the United States should never become a member.

But in his association of nations plan, President Harding sees a real opportunity for the United States to assume world leadership and yet carefully safeguard against foreign entanglements.

Pleased by Response.

Every reasonable effort will be made at the conference on disarmament to embrace the two plans, first, of securing an international agreement for the limitation of armaments, after the Far East problem has been disposed of and second steps for the formation of an association of all the great powers to lessen the possibility of war.

The administration obviously is pleased that the "informal feelers" on disarmament put out to other governments have received favorable responses so soon.

Tokio still is hesitating, according to authentic information, but is expected to return a favorable answer to this government shortly.

The Harding administration has in view a singularly appropriate idea regarding the date for calling the momentous disarmament conference. If possible, it will be fixed to open armistice day, November 11. President Harding is said heartily to approve of the idea of calling this greatest of all peace conferences on the day that marked the end of the world's greatest war. The President will open the sessions of the conference personally, since it is to be held in Washington, according to information given Universal Service today.

REVIVAL OF GERMAN TRADE IS SOUGHT

Berlin, July 16.—The economic crisis in the United States demands that Germany become an old-time good buying customer of American farm and manufacturing products, is the gist of a statement given out to the German press today by a commission from the American Central Chamber of Commerce, headed by Edward Filene of Boston.

The commission's purpose here is to discuss with German officials, financiers and industrial captains, how Germany might be restored where it can purchase American products thru some means of stabilizing German exchange and the granting of vast credits upon guarantees which will offer the necessary security to the givers of credit.

The question of the practicability of the German plan, which German properly seized in America, but the release of which is expected, being held for a number of years as security for credits has again been brought up. Naturally the individuals who have property in the United States strongly oppose such action.

The statement lays great stress upon the vast unemployment in America together with the enormous surplus of products there which cannot be sold and says that it is a matter of serious interest to America, that the recognition of Russia be made possible more rapidly and sees great advantage to America if it works together with Germany toward that end.

Vice President Mosely of the American Exchange National Bank of New York, is expected to join the commission here.

Deep Interest Aroused.

The National League of German Industries gave the American business men a dinner today.

The coming of this commission, together with the visit of Barney Baruch has aroused the greatest interest in German banking and industrial circles. The impression prevails in some quarters that the sudden American interest in Germany is forced on the one hand by the reported stagnation in trade there and on the other by the attempt of British and German industrial groups to effect economic ententes with the Russian soviet government for exploitation and reconstruction later to the exclusion of America.

HARDING LAUNCHES ROWBOAT

With all formality and solemnity President Harding acted as sponsor July 4, of a nine-foot rowboat built by the nine-year-old son of Senator Frellinghuysen of N. J., at whose home the president and his wife were guests over the holiday. As he broke a bottle of mineral water over the bows President Harding said, "I christen this boat as a tribute to American boyhood who build boats and whose achievements in the future will build this country."

"NEED OF CRITICISM"

In a recent address, Rear-Admiral W. S. Sims contrasted the attitude of the United States which forbids public criticism of governmental affairs by army and naval officers with that of European powers who recognize criticism as vitally important to national defense. "Officers in Europe do not actually on duty," he said, "can publish any criticism they please but in the United States it is forbidden." The efficiency of a country like ours depends largely on the interest people take in this efficiency, he said. As a safeguard to public interests he urged public discussion of the affairs of the nation.

HEAVY SHIPPING FROM N. Y.

More than 50 ships nearly a quarter of them carrying passengers, sailed from New York on June 26. This was one of the largest sailing days in several years, the ships carrying more than 10,000 passengers. A record cargo of 9000 sacks of mail was sent to Europe on the America, formerly the German liner Amerika, which is now the largest passenger ship sailing under the American flag.

An odd suggestion comes from England as to conserving wheat. It is proposed to crush or rough grind wheat, then soften with superheated steam and compress in hard blocks and store until wanted, when a simple crushing process would fit it for flour manufacture.

DRAFT HORSE MAY SOON BE EXTINCT

The growing popularity of motor vehicles and the dwindling number of horses is rapidly driving the once popular draft animal to extinction. There are about half the number of horses in cities now than 10 years ago. This is due to the falling off in breeding.

The 1920 census figures show that there are only 56,000 horses in New York city as compared to 128,000 in 1910. Chicago now has 30,000 against 68,000 a decade ago. Figures for comparison in other cities follow: Philadelphia 19,000 now and 50,000 then; Baltimore 7000 and 16,000; Boston 10,000 and 23,000; Pittsburgh 6000 and 12,000; Cincinnati 5000 and 13,000, and Cleveland 5000 and 16,000. If the decrease keeps up at this rate the draft horse will soon become a curiosity and eventually may be seen only on exhibition in museums.

"Didn't it say I was a scoundrel?"

"It did not."

"Well, some paper said it."

"Possibly it was our contemporary down the street," suggested the editor, as he picked up a paper weight.

FRIDAY,.....JULY 22

We still say that the salaries of the rural teachers have been increased since the school year of 1919-20 closed, notwithstanding our friend, the Herald to the contrary, and it's "Timbuctoo Ed Morrow—Prof. Geo. Colvin." Editorial.

The mother of Grover Cleveland Bergdoli in giving testimony recently, stated that she paid Major Bruce B. Campbell $5,000 to be used in behalf of her son after the Major had demanded $100,000. She further stated that when the higher figures were demanded she simply told him to go to hell. Had the Major skidded for that place with as much rapidity as he exhibited in fall in price, if her statements be true, he would have landed before Sister Bergdoli could have counted the money.

One of the largest questions under discussion for settlement today, is perhaps that between the Irish and Great Britain. There appears but little doubt of the fact that Ireland could very readily obtain the same form of government as is accorded Canada, and other Dominions of the English. Whether the Irish will accept that kind of settlement appears problematical and whether the British Government will be willing to go further is likewise a problem. Our guess is that no more ground or freedom of government will be given the Irish than has been extended to the Dominion to the North of the U. S.

Of late, we have been noticing editorial comment from various sources nearly complimentary to President Harding. But most generally they wind up by giving some other person credit for what he, the President is striving to do. One in particular we remember read like this: "The spirit actuating President Harding in calling the Great Powers to join us in a conference on disarmament and the Far Eastern situation, is commendable. The Chief Executive is beginning to show some signs of initiative, thanks to the coaching of the Secretary of State." One of these days some of these Democratic Quill-drivers are going to be called away from ink and scratch paper before they append the latter portion of their editorial, that portion which belittles and casts odium upon the President, and thereby be disgraced forever, read out of the party and completely ostracised by the political brethren and their communities.

Candidates for nomination for the various offices are now in the home stretch, so to speak. We deem it the duty of every mother's son of them to do their dead-level best to win, but mind you, we say level, and by that we mean that all effort should be on the level, not that we anticipate that any may desire or will practice methods questionable or objectionable. We would more particularly charge the friends and supporters of candidates with the duty of keeping everything straight. It is perfectly proper for each individual to work for the man of his choice, to do that which is honorable in getting out those who will support his choice, and the choice of all, should first be, as they see the matter after deliberate survey of the field, the one who can best serve the entire County and that with credit to the party giving the commission. The field of candidates for many of the offices is a broad one, the greater majority, if not all are thoroughly competent and qualified, especially with a bit of experience, for the position sought. When the primary shall have passed, the family fight behind us, we must be in shape to line up solidly for those who are commissioned as our candidates. With confidence we look forward to a united party to battle those whose only hope lies in disgruntled and defeated candidates, they are talking it every day, they hope for it and we are expecting that they are to get the worst shock of their lives, politically. See to it, that the enemy is disappointed.

THE NEW CITIZEN—WOMAN

By Mrs. E. S. HOWARD.

Equal Suffrage is here. The advocates of an unrestricted ballot have at last seated a woman in the American Congress and I am glad that she could weep as she voted in opposition to war. It was the blessed soul of an old regime gently breathing its dew-drops in what women hope to be a better regime. Woman already possessed, within her domestic sphere, a greater power to shape events on this planet than the Supreme Power ever gave Napoleon. If there is any force on the American Continent to which her influence can be likened, it is the force of gravitation—reaching to the limits of the furthest star, an influence, that if molded aright, is mighty enough for the safeguard of any nation.

If a woman wishes to vote who can say her nay? There is no constitutional reason for withholding the ballot from her. The difficulties are superfluous but minute. We well know that all people admire The New Citizen—Woman, but we too, well know that the old-fashioned girl is loved best. She is loved for unassuming, shy and modest life, ever reminding one of the sweet violets in the forest, pure and innocent, receding in the shadows of the tall, mighty and handsome oaks. At the fireside of the world it is hers

"To mold a mighty nation's decrees
And to shape the whispers of a throne."

Thus we see that equal suffrage cannot add one cubit to woman's stature but it may detract from her charm of modesty—we cannot tell. It may dull that fine edge of chivalry which a reverence for the gentler sex has ever been inspired by the world in the American race—I hope it may never. There is a grim touch of irony, and I fear a sinister prediction, in the toast: "Here's to the women of America; once our superiors, but now, only our equals." In this great and most wonderful nation whose political lights are beckoning to us, there are dazzling opportunities for us to seize, greater responsibilities for us to meet. All will not be smiles; cares will encumber, disappointments will come, and lovely altitudes will vanish. One will decide to shine in the social realm, one will strive to shine in the political world while another will find in life an humbler lot, but in the ledger which the Recording Angel keeps is not a dissonant position but serving others that counts for the blessed eternity. Then let us commend to our sex the motto of our great States: "Not for ourselves but for others."

Whoever would be the most exalted must live for others. We read that on the battle field of Creasy, Edward and the Black Prince met in a hand to hand encounter with King John, of Bohemia who was slain. Underneath a plume was discovered the legend: "I Serve." There is nothing grander than service—service for others. The Royal Son, the Prince of Peace, relinquished the Godhead, donned the livery of a servant, and "Came, not to be ministered unto but to minister." Those who would govern must serve to conquer.

Equal suffrage is here. Let us vote. Read, think and vote. Ever be true to the trust awarded us. Always cherishing the good and the beautiful. Let duty and not domination be our guiding star. Be Martha to serve, Dorcas to sew and Mary to sit at the feet of Jesus. It is ours to equal and perhaps to excel in intellect but nothing must entice us from the fireside. In this age of multiple social and political centers we sometimes tremble for the home for we realize what it means to the world if our hearts are not anchored in the haven of Home.

THERE'S WOMAN'S HOME IN THE EMPIRE LIES.

EDUCATIONAL BALLOTS

Candidates for nomination for the various offices in the coming primary may secure Educational Ballots at this office by leaving their order at once. After we commence making the regular ballots it will be next to impossible for this office to furnish them.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

Mother Earth wobbled from its regular orbit Sunday as Lem Crowe was making a sky-rocket dash from first to second and as a result a great collision ensued. Aside from an immense fog of dust scrambled by the impact, no particular harm was done to Earth. Lem lost enough hide, if properly tanned to shoe Walker Kahn about twice, and those who have lapped Walk's pedals will know that "some" leather would be involved.

We have received special request to invite J. D. Claire to town to view the Lilly pool and aquarium. And if the Old Man will come, and promise to not get thrown we will place a white mule or two at his disposal.

CHEST OF ARAB KING DEPLETED

Depletion of Pilgrims From Mecca
Puts Dent In Arabian Exchequer.

By DUKE N. PARRY.
In Louisville Herald.
Tokio, June 15.—To plead the cause of a deserted Mecca, Sheikh Sid-dik Elkadiri, envoy from Hussein I. King of the Arabians, is in Japan. Sheikh Elkadiri is a Mohammedan, and it is the cause of religion, not politics—he mentioned this fact first as if to relieve himself of any stigma—that brings him to the cities of China and Japan.

It is regarding the age-old custom of Mohammedans from all parts of the world to visit the sacred city of Mohammed once every year that brought the Sheikh to Tokio. Mohammedans, of whom there are 60,000,000 in China and 30,000,000 in Russia, he they the poorest or the richest, feel that they have not fulfilled their obligation as to the "Great Prophet" unless they journey at least once during their lifetime to Mecca. The wealthy Mohammedan, as is known, often makes the trip once every year, the time for the pilgrimage being arranged so that the city of Mecca is reached in August. Wars in China and revolutions in Russia have made it impossible for the Mohammedan to make his pilgrimage to the city, the symbolic sign of which is the Crescent.

"It was no uncommon thing," said Sheikh Elkadiri in Tokio recently, "before the Great War, for 300,000 Mohammedans to fill the city of Mecca each August. In 1913 there were 250,000 and in 1914 there were 300,000. During the years of the war there were never more than 15,000 and last year during the month of August 17,000 came."

Arabia Needs the Money
What particularly concerns the king of the Arabians, or rather the king of Hejaz, the only independent section of Arabia, is the matter of relieving Mohammedans who are unable to obtain passports annually from Japan and Russia. The annual visits of the pilgrims to Mecca are the chief source of income to the town. Each pilgrim must bring a pound to the king, representing $5, and it can be seen that in the days when 300,000 of these pilgrims visited the city of Mecca, it was more profitable to the king and to the country than today, when 15,000 are able to get there.

"Wars in China and revolutions in Russia, added to the natural fear of governments that dangerous characters might be applying for passports, have made it almost impossible for Mohammedans from China and from Russia to get started home for the annual visit to the city of Mohammed. It is necessary for them to start in May if they are to reach Mecca in August; and so, while we hope to have arrangements made for passports this year, we doubt very much if we will be able to get the arrangements made by this year."

Asked regarding Mohammedans in Japan, Sheikh Elkadiri said that there were none, but that his object in coming here was to arrange for his countrymen to leave by Japanese ports.

Summer Complaint Quickly Relieved

MONETARY STANDARD URGED

FAYETTE SCHOOL SHORTAGE DENIED

Lexington, Ky., July 16.—Declaring that no shortage exists in the funds of the Fayette County School Board and suggesting that Dr. Gilbert Bailey, chairman of the recently elected school board, resign, the report of the Fayette County grand jury, in dealing with the affairs of the board, says the affairs of the old board were handled intelligently.

That the old board and Mrs. Faulconer, the county school superintendent, in particular, has been suspected of a shortage in the school funds of over $100,000 is a "ridiculous" statement on the face of it," is the declaration of the board.

The grand jury severely criticizes the superintendent's failure to preserve all checks and the manner in which the books and records have been kept.

A special examiner, the report says, went to inspect the affairs of the board recognized and complimented the progress made by the county schools.

"In this we heartily agree and commend the old board on its attainment while in office."

Summer Complaint in Children.

There is not anything like so many deaths from this disease now as before Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy came into such general use. When this remedy is given with castor oil as directed and proper care is taken as to diet, it is safe to say that fully ninety-nine out of every hundred cases recover. Mr. W. G. Campbell of Butler, Tenn., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for summer complaint in children. It is far ahead of anything I have ever used for this purpose."

A BARE FACT

Two ladies gay met a hoy one day;
His legs were bristled scratched.
His clothes were blue, but a nut-brown hue
Marked the place where his pants were patched.
They huddled with joy at the blue-eyed boy
With his spot of nut-brown hue:
"Why didn't you patch with a color to match?"
They chuckled, "why not in blue? Come don't be coy, my blue-eyed boy, Speak out," and they laughed with glee.
And he blushed rose-red while he bashfully said:
"That ain't no patch; that's me!"

LLOYD GEORGE WILL COME TO U. S. FOR CONFERENCE

London, July 12.—It is officially confirmed that Premier Lloyd George has decided to go to Washington to attend the conference on disarmament, to which President Harding has invited the leading powers of the world.

In his visit the premier will gratify a long-felt desire to establish a personal contact with leading Americans on their own soil. He has been assured by Ambassador Sir Auckland Geddes that he will receive the warmest kind of welcome from Americans, who admire him for his war leadership.

At the headquarters of the South African delegation to the Dominion conference it was learned that Premier Jan Smuts has been invited by the United States administration to participate in the conference. He is unable to give his final answer until he ascertains whether his presence is shortly to be required in South Africa.

It is assumed that the conference will be not earlier than October or November, and it is declared to be doubtful that the Australian and South African premiers will be able to defer their return to their respective countries until the end of the year.

Both Premiers Smuts and Hughes are anxious to throw their personal influence on the side of limitation of armaments. The question has arisen as to whether the preliminary conference will be held in London before the delegates adjourn to meet at Washington.

"I shall have to ask you for a ticket for that boy, ma'am."

"I guess not."

"He's too old to travel free. He occupies a whole seat and the car's crowded. There are people standing."

"I can't help that."

"I haven't time to argue this matter, ma'am. You'll have to pay for that boy."

"I've never paid for him yet."

"You've got to begin doing it sometime."

"Not this time, anyway."

"Well, you'll pay for that boy, ma'am, or I'll stop the train and put him off."

"All right; put him off if you think that's the way to get anything out of me."

"You ought to know what the rule of this road is, ma'am. How old is that boy?"

"I don't know. I never saw him before."

EXPRESS MEN'S WAGES CUT

Chicago, July 12.—The Railroad Labor Board today ordered wages of employees of the American Railway Express Company reduced six cents an hour, beginning August 1st.

No reduction of express rates is contemplated at this time as a result of the wage cut, express company officials said. It is estimated that approximately $8,000,000 will be sliced off the annual labor bill of the company employees between seventy thousand and seventy-five thousand workers.

MAKING BOLTS AND NUTS RUST-PROOF

A thin coating of shellac is an effective anti-rust protection for bolts and nuts. It is particularly useful for autos and machinery. The substance will also prevent a nut from turning and will reduce the annoyance of loose and rattling parts. Both nut and bolt should be dipped in thin shellac. After being put in place with the nut tightened the bolt should have a little additional shellac applied to its end. This treatment will not only prevent rusting but will allow the nut to be taken off more easily.

As a general rule it is very hard to rust-proof small parts. Sometimes they are coated with grease or graphite but this soon wears off and the rust continues to accumulate. Some forms of paint are frequently used but these too are not permanent protection. The shellac coating is expected to overcome this.

JAPANESE PRINCE IS RECEIVED AT VATICAN

Rome, July 16.—Crown Prince Hirohito, of Japan, after visiting the principal historical churches Friday morning, called at the vatican in the afternoon and had a cordial interview with Pope Benedict, with whom he exchanged presents.

The crown prince told the pontiff that Emperor Yoshihito had entrusted him with the mission of conveying to the pope his greetings and wishes for a long and prosperous reign. Pope Benedict replied that he was much gratified by the cordial expressions.

Later, on behalf of the pontiff, Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, made a return visit to the crown prince in Altieri palace.

DISABLED SOLDIERS HOLDING PALACE

When the ministry of labor decided to close the palace of the former kaiser in the suburbs of Berlin which was used as a hospital for wounded soldiers the soldiers decided not to get out. The government took away the medical staff, the nurses and even the linen but the soldiers still held out. They organized a sort of soviet government and sent out foraging parties for food. Communists on the outside came to their aid with supplies, and bolshevik agents helped in their organization.

TO FIND CALVIN'S GRAVE

John Calvin the great religious reformer and autocrat, died at Geneva in 1564 after a rather stormy life but the public never knew where he was buried. It was a rather usual thing in those days for a man's body to be dug up, his head severed and stuck on a pole, provided an enemy faction got control of things after his death.

That is probably the reason for Calvin's secret burial. A man who claims to be a descendant announced at Geneva that the burial place of the great man is a secret kept in the family but that he had decided to reveal the place to church officials.

HOOF AND MOUTH DISEASE SERUM

Cattle will be immune to the dread hoof and mouth disease if a new serum which has just been discovered lives up to its claim. Professors Vallee and Carre of the Alfortville agricultural research laboratory in France are said to have made the discovery. The French government has shown its interest in the matter by undertaking experiments to prove the value of the serum.

SMALLEST WORKING TURBINE

A Hillsboro, N. Dak., man has constructed what is declared to be the smallest working turbine in the world. The diameter of the machine over all is .0048 inch—about half the diameter of the head of an ordinar pin. The machine consists of eight parts, encased in gold. It is kept in a glass covered case to protect it from moisture which would interfere with its operation. It cannot be run by steam as that is too heavy. With compressed air, however, it works fine, running at a high rate of speed.

STOPS LEAK IN CONCRETE TANKS

Leaks in concrete water tanks may be stopped, we are told, by filling the tank with water and then sprinkling bran around the walls. The bran and water form a sort of thick glue which sinks and is drawn to the leaks. The pressure of the water packs it tightly in the openings. Tanks treated in this way have remained perfectly watertight for a year. Similar methods are used for stopping leaks in auto cooling systems, but linseed meal is then used.

IS YOUR HEALTH GRADUALLY SLIPPING?

Interesting Experience of a Texas Lady Who Declares That if More Women Knew About Cardui They Would Be Spared Much Sickness and Worry.

Navasota, Texas.—Mrs. W. M. Peden, of this place, relates the following interesting account of how she recovered her strength, having realized that she was actually losing her health:

"Health is the greatest thing in the world, and when you feel that gradually slipping away from you, you certainly sit up and take notice. That is what I did some time ago when I found myself in a very nervous, run-down condition of health. I was so tired and felt so lifeless I could hardly go at all."

"I was just no account for work. I would get a bucket of water and would feel so weak I would have to set it down before I felt like I could lift it to the shelf. In this condition, of course, to do even my housework was a task almost impossible to accomplish."

"I was . . . nervous and easily upset."

I couldn't rest well at night and was . . . just lifeless."

"I heard of Cardui and after reading I decided I had some female trouble that was pulling me down. I sent for Cardui and began it . . ."

"In a very short while after I began the Cardui Home Treatment I saw an improvement and it wasn't long until I was all right—good appetite, splendid rest, and much stronger so that I easily did my house work."

"Later I took a bottle of Cardui as a tonic. I can recommend Cardui and gladly do so, for if more women knew, it would save a great deal of worry and sickness."

"The enthusiastic praise of thousands of other women who have found Cardui helpful should convince you that it is worth trying. All druggists sell it."

WORK OF CONGRESS EXPLAINED BY FESS

Tariff and Tax Legislation Only Part Of Task Undertaken
By Republicans.

Washington, June 16.—How Congress is working out the greatest reconstruction problem in the history of the United States is told by Chairman Simon L. Fess, of the National Republican Congressional Committee, in a statement issued today. He says:

Tariff legislation absorbs the time of the session that eludes it. From the day of the passage of the Underwood bill it was known that it would have to be repeated. Before the year that saw its passage was ended, general stagnation and paralysis of enterprise with an army of unemployment was upon us. The European War alone saved the sponsors from defeat, by operating as the most effective protection possible.

When the Republicans were returned to power, the Committee on Ways and Means at once, even before Harding was inaugurated, began to hold hearings upon the question. As soon as these were completed the emergency tariff act was brought before the House and in due time passed the Senate. It was defeated by a Presidential veto from Wilson. After the inauguration of Harding this measure was reintroduced. It was broadened somewhat so as to protect our industries by aid of an anti-dumping clause. It passed the House April 15th and the Senate May 11th in amended form. It was agreed to in conference and approved by President Harding May 27th.

In the meantime, the committee worked upon the permanent tariff bill, having submitted separate schedules to subcommittees. After weeks of the most continuous and arduous labor the full committee has completed the final draft. The measure will require most of July for its consideration in the House when it will go to the Senate and be referred to the Finance Committee, which will open hearings upon it. While this committee is conducting these hearings the Ways and Means Committee will take up the other pressing questions.

The chief and all-important question for Congress is the revision of the tax system. The Senate Finance Committee conducted hearing on this question during the month of May. The House will open hearings soon after the tariff bill gets thru the House. It is expected these hearings will be completed, the bill drafted and passed thru the House by the time the Senate completes its hearings on the tariff questions.

The success of any taxation system depends upon the business condition of the country. Where business is stagnant tax receipts fall off. The amount of tax therefore must depend largely upon the amount of business transacted.

Tariff legislation is designed to promote the business condition of the country. It looks to the protection policy that enables the fullest investment of American capital in the best employment of American labor, upon a scale of wage to insure and maintain an American standard of living. At the same time it provides revenue for the expenses of the government. The amount of revenue from this source under the present law was $337,000,000 this year. Under the proposed law it should reach at least $500,000,000.

Logically it was decided that tariff legislation should come first.

(1) It would offer a basis for tax.
(2) It always interrupts business, the sooner it is enacted the sooner business will settle.

(3) Tariff relief can begin at once, tax relief will take effect next year.

This character of legislation is more difficult than in any period of the past. The condition of Europe complicates the problem. Foreign exchange, due largely to an almost hopeless money inflation where gold as a basis has been abandoned for mere paper, makes tariff legislation upon a scientific basis almost impossible. How to frame the law to protect our own industries from countries like Germany, paying one-sixth what we pay for labor, and still not interfere with those countries in their struggle to get on their feet is new in tariff legislation.

The draft of a bill containing nearly one thousand paragraphs, and several thousand items, nearly a thousand of them never considered in any previous tariff measure since they were developed here while the war embargo was on, and many of these items involving acute differences, cannot be made without time to mature the draft. While the Ways and Means Committee has been busy every day on this draft, the Congress has been losing no time in its work of reconstruction. Already it has enacted a most salutary immigration act which became law May 19th; emergency tariff act which became law May 27; a budget act which became law June 10th, besides a deficiency appropriation act, the military appropriation act and the naval appropriation act. The latter two bills also took a decisive step in economy by reducing the Army to 150,000, a tremendous reduction from Secretary Baker's recommendation for an Army of 576,000. The naval bill also wrote into law the request that the country lead in the work of disarmament by seeking an agreement with the leading naval powers of the earth.

The critical situation in Europe on the delay of definite determination of the German indemnity where France was threatening to enforce the treaty by a military invasion Germany counseled discreet action to convince Germany that this country expected the vanquished to pay her obligations. This was not only to be inferred by our international conduct, but also our specific instructions to Europe.

Peace declarations were somewhat delayed, due to some differences between the two houses of Congress upon the precise form it should take, but have now been passed.

The system of federal aid to road-building is enlarged and a maintenance provision has been added.

Remedial legislation for the disabled in the war has been enacted, such as improved facilities for hospitalization and rehabilitation of disabled soldiers. The Sweet bill to reorganize and concentrate the agencies of soldier relief has passed the House.

Remedial legislation on behalf of agriculture has been advanced thru one branch of Congress:

1. Commission to investigate and report on agricultural conditions.
2. The Farmers' Cooperative Association rights now in conference.
3. The regulation of the gambling transactions in grain.

The Packer bill now in conference. The authority of the Farm Loan Bank to extend longer credit for agriculture.

Remedial legislation for industrial rehabilitation:

1. Transportation Winslow bill.
2. Telephone consolidation.
3. Mobilizing the business talent of the country to assist in the solution in the work of industrial reconstruction.

Various conferences held in Washington, representing various angles of this problem.

The aggressive work of the Congressional Joint Commission created for the purpose of reorganization of the government departments here in Washington is an example of the manner in which the administration is dealing with the problems of reconstruction on the basis of economic and efficient government service. Readjustment is always difficult, but never so much so as today when we are correcting the evils of the worst spree of governmental disintegration in history.

WAR SMOKE VERY SIMPLE BUT EFFECTIVE

Smoke screens were successfully used to mask troop and ship movements in the World War. Their nature had been a closely guarded secret until the government recently made public the surprisingly simple composition of smoke clouds employed by our forces. The following is a representative formula, though proportions varied depending on the method of attack and the form of container employed: Zinc 35.4 parts, carbon tetrachloride 41.6 parts, sodium chlorate 9.3 parts, ammonium chlorate 5.4 parts and magnesium carbonate 8.3 parts.

The smoke screens were the results of experimental work conducted by the chemical warfare service at the American university experiment station in Washington. There the smoke was graded according to the "T. O. B." or "total obscuring power," in relation to an electric light placed in its midst. The most popular material was the "B. M." mixture that originated with the U. S. bureau of mines but was later perfected by the service. Had the war continued, the making of smoke screens would have developed into a fine art. It was even proposed to launch smoke attacks from the air but the close of the war halted experiments in that direction.

CHICAGO SHERIFF GUARDS DEAD MEN

Attempts To Revive Victims Hanged
Causes Officer To Watch
Cut-Down Men

By EARL L. SHAFER.
(Louisville Herald)

Chicago, July 16.—Sheriff Peters, of this county, is determined that the men he hangs hereafter will "stay hanged."

That's why he kept armed guards over the bodies of Grover C. Redding and Oscar McGavick, negroes, after they had been cut down and pronounced dead.

"I'm not taking any chances," he explained. "A young fellow that I hanged recently came near cheating death after we had turned the body over to his friends. Hereafter when I hang a man he's going to stay hanged."

The young fellow he referred to was Nicholas Viana, a choir boy, who was hanged last winter. The story of efforts to revive him were revealed for the first time by the sheriff.

He was pronounced dead, of strangulation fourteen minutes after the drop. Friends removed the body to an ambulance. A surgeon and a nurse were waiting in the vehicle.

Quickly they stripped the clothes from the still warm body and rubbed it with Halmont and wrapped it in warm blankets.

They hurried to an undertaker shop. A warm slab was waiting. A pulmotor was hastily adjusted. Skilled hospital attendants manned the oxygen pump.

Friends stood around and hoped against hope. For an hour the surgeons worked. At one time the body showed signs of coming to life. The heart actually "picked up." But something halted the resuscitation.

"We have verified this story," said the sheriff. "I have also learned that a man who was executed in the East was actually revived by his friends."

"I kept an armed guard for one hour over the two negroes. At the end of that time I let their relatives take the bodies."

Redding and McGavick were hanged for the murder of Robert L. Rose, a sailor, in the "Abyssinian" riot last summer.

Redding was a would be Napoleon who wanted to establish a negro empire in Africa. He staged a parade in Chicago to arouse interest among the people of his race. It ended in the riot.

McGavick was his "Lester Prince" who wanted to be a field marshal in the empire.

The two men seemed to be hardly able to comprehend what was going on. They looked timidly and mechanically around after mounting the scaffold. They hoped to the last that some remaining influence of their vanished empire would save them.

MAKE FIGHT FOR PROHIBITION

The temperance movement is sweeping India accompanied with violence at many places. In Bombay and the leading cities of the West saloons are picketed, and in one town the temperance people offer a glass of milk to everyone who comes to purchase liquor. Indian ministers control the excise system, and the temperance workers demand that they refund the money bid at auction for liquor license and close the saloons. "Pussyfoot" Johnson, the American temperance worker, is due to arrive in August, at which time an intensive drive is to be made.

CARNEGIE'S ESTATE IN COURT

Appraisers of the estate of Andrew Carnegie have valued it at nearly $26,000,000. Mr. Carnegie gave away $360,000,000 during the latter part of his life, and had the estate remained intact it would have been one of the largest ever administered.

The question of the income tax, property tax, transfer tax and Carnegie's pension fund tax will involve some delay in settlement. These total taxes are estimated to amount to about $1,800,000. The pension fund mentioned provides annuities of $10,000 for William H. Taft, Frederick David Lloyd George of England, and Viscount Morely. Annuities of $5,000 include Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and Mrs. Preston, widow of Grover Cleveland.
